It is a crime to steal Bay Cablevision's service.

Under Alaska state statutes, theft of a utility service is a Class A misdemeanor. Further, there are civil liabilities if such theft results in damage to a utility's property or equipment.

Bay Cablevison is committed to prosecuting signal thieves.

Beyond criminal and/or civil penalties which may result, signal thieves may also be denied future service by Bay Cablevision.

Everybody pays when one person steals.

Cable TV theft may result in damage to lines carrying service to other customers and a loss of quality in their signal. In such cases, technicians can spend hours checking equipment in response to a customer complaint, or must be sent out to repair line damage. These unnecessary costs increase the price everybody must pay for service.

Report signal theft.

Call Bay Cablevision at 246-3300 if you suspect signal theft may be occurring. By doing so, you'll help keep costs down and quality of service up for everyone.

I hereby agree to promptly pay all charges for cable TV service and installation. I further agree to pay any and all costs incurred by Bay Cablevision, Inc. for the collection of any unpaid charges in my name. All "Terms and Conditions" of Bristol Bay Telephone Cooperative apply to this account.
